

Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by Big Dog - 25 Mar 2013 17:30

Come one, come all, records will fall. The Thunderhill track record should be up for grabs regardless of the temperature and everyone should be there to get a shot at it.

Even though temps were high and track conditions were poor at Sonoma two weeks ago, there is a new track record that I am sure will not stand for long when Steve gets the RR's hooked up through turn 10. He will be flat footing it out of the esses and down to the braking point for turn 11, no doubt.

There is a test day on the Friday before the NASA event and Big Dog and Lil'Kat are signed up for it. Alignment settings and tire pressures will be up for fine tuning on Friday. I have a new memory pyrometer and will be using it so come out and do some setup work on your cars. I want to see a new track record with every session, starting Saturday morning practice and ending with Sunday's race.

What about dinner for Friday evening. Who is in for it?

Big Dog and Lil'Kat

=====

Re: Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by Big Dog - 07 Apr 2013 19:58

Ken, I thought that Jerry had 3 pulls for about $40 or so at Sonoma. I am not at all interested in having him "tune" my car. I will only want some pulls and I will then deal with whatever I might want to do to the car so I am not interested in $100 deals, at this point.

If I can find two oil filters, I will want to get another case of oil so I can change both cars this weekend. Do you have a case of Redline like I bought last time?

Does anyone have the taller oil filters that I can buy? I believe they are the 75 size. I have two at home but not with me.

Big Dog

=====
Re: Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by JerryW - 08 Apr 2013 06:51

I did - but I had no tuning done. Just 3 straight pulls

=====
Re: Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by ioport - 08 Apr 2013 08:44

I understand. I will see if we can get both tuning and plain pulls at a discount if we all show up.

=====
Re: Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by rd7839 - 08 Apr 2013 08:50

For a lower price count me in! Is the factory rev limit still 7800rpm?

=====
Re: Thunderhill Roll Call

Posted by ioport - 08 Apr 2013 09:39

Big Dog wrote:

If I can find two oil filters, I will want to get another case of oil so I can change both cars this weekend. Do you have a case of Redline like I bought last time?

Big Dog

Yes, I can bring up a case for you.
