

Anyone doing Friday practice?

Posted by 944Racer72 - 20 Jun 2010 02:42

I'm thinking about doing Friday practice as offered by the track (in Jerry Kunzman's email).

Anyone interested? We could play with alignment settings, tire pressures, lead/follow etc.

I didn't see Jerry's e-mail (probably because I'm not signed up) Can you forward it.

It would be good to get OI Pokey tested before the race weekend. I might see if I can make it Done. It gives a phone number and name of a contact at Infineon for a discounted practice day on Friday. I don't want to post that publicly but I did forward the email.

If I do Friday, I'll arrive early Friday morning.

Replied - I'll certainly do some of the practice sessions. Probably not all 4 though.

I called today and spoke to the testing guy at Infineon.

They have 4 sessions of 45 minutes each on Friday:

8:15 AM

10:00 AM

12:30 PM

2:50 PM

I'm probably going to do either 2 or 3 of the sessions most likely starting with the 10AM depending what time I get there.

I'm waiting for a call back from him. 2-3 sessions sound about what I planned for too. How does the process work ? Did you get details ?

Finally got the call back and am signed up. See you Fri
