

Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by dancing944 - 01 Jun 2016 07:18

I figured I might as well start a thread for our next NASA event. We have had very good turnouts and very good racing. I'm looking forward to more.

Who's in?

Everett

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by Golden Eye - 12 Jun 2016 11:08

Taylor here. Confirming i will be there to start my journey.

reflexr wrote:

We'll be there in TTD, and bringing a friend, Taylor, who just picked up a 944. He is going to start the climb up the HPDE ladder.

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by dancing944 - 16 Jun 2016 14:52

Hey gang, Jerry and I will have our RV's in the RV area, pretty close to Seven's Only but on the track side of the RV area. I think I already mentioned the rest of you are welcome to come cool off. Tom at Seven's Only is going to save some spots for those without RV's near Seven's Only, in that first row on the left as you drive in. I should get up there sometime around mid-day tomorrow. Looking forward to it. And drink lots of water everyone!

Everett

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by capt squid - 16 Jun 2016 20:21

I will probably be late. Please save me a spot.

=====

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by rd7839 - 21 Jun 2016 06:14

Hey guys, I just wanted to say what a great time Kim and I had and that it's great racing with y'all! Sundays qualifying race was a ton of fun and worth the trip just alone!

I guess I won't see you guys until October unless anybody would like to come north for the Sonoma race in September. If you haven't driven that track yet, it is well worth the drive.

Oh, and Jerry, Quigley misses you already!

=====

Re: Buttonwillow June 18 & 19

Posted by JDeLira - 24 Jun 2016 07:45

Great weekend. Great racing. Can't wait for Willow. Here's my video from the first race. Will post the other two later. Feel free to critique... I'll only be better for it. Great seeing everyone. Ron, tell Quigley I miss him too! He's a sweet pup!

https://youtu.be/yhJ6WtjGA_8

=====