

distribution hitch

Posted by Utah944 - 09 Aug 2008 10:30

I just bought a 20' enclosed trailer, i hope but that is a different story. I was interested in people's experience with distribution hitches. Is it needed for a 20' trailer. My tow vehicle is a 2006 nissan titan with the full tow package.

=====

Re:distribution hitch

Posted by 944cer - 12 Aug 2008 06:55

I had an expeience similar to Gary's. It helped alot to level the rig but at normal hwy speeds it was unsafe. I literally had it sliding sideways back and forth on the interstate at 50-60 mph from a simple lane change. The trailer was too much weight for the Tahoe to handle. Fortunaltly we didn't hit anything but it sure through the car around inside the trailer.

=====