

Inside side net new install point on firewall

Posted by bnewport - 01 Nov 2009 06:41

I just moved my inside net up to attach to the firewall rather than the knee bar. This gets it up to shoulder height ish which apparently is recommended but noone is checking this as tech clearly.

Here are some photos. I'm using the simpson grade 8 seat belt eye bolt and 2 inch washers.

=====

Re:Inside side net new install point on firewall

Posted by bnewport - 01 Nov 2009 06:41

Pictures are too big, they are over on facebook and trackpedia.

=====